Big – the application acclaimed by wealth and finance professionals – is undergoing a revolution.

The Harvest Group – a leader in software, digital and service solutions in the wealth and finance businesses – announces the metamorphosis of Big, the benchmark wealth management software, in early 2022. A visual, functional and technical revolution will ensure it meets the needs and new challenges of professionals as closely as possible.

This redesign provides wealth and finance professionals with an even more powerful tool that combines not only ease of use with redesigned ergonomics, modernised screens, easier input and optimised navigation for saving time, but also computational sophistication, continuous integration of finance laws and more intuitive simulators that can perform quick or complete studies in a few clicks. By concentrating this into a single tool with a full set of legacy themes, professionals can thus support their clients at each stage of their life cycle with even more comprehensive document customisation.

“The launch of the new Big as an SaaS product represents a genuine revolution for users: all the sophistication of Big in a simple, beautiful and reliable tool. This modernisation of our flagship product has been well received since its launch a month ago, and feedback has been excellent. One of the three pillars of our Conquest 2025 strategy is ‘Anchoring the customer culture’; this major new development is a perfect fit,” explains Virginie Fauvel, CEO of Harvest Group.

This new version has been tested and widely approved by a panel of customers. Big is available on all devices, computers or tablets, via a standard internet browser on Windows or Mac (SaaS version). The web technology used now facilitates the regular addition of new functionalities in just a few minutes, without requiring any deployment work by our customers. A month after the launch of the new Big, almost 30% of customers have already migrated to this new version.
